“Commit your works to the LORD, and your thoughts will be established.” — Proverbs 16:3 (NKJV)

As I reflect on the journey of True Worshipers Kingdom Ministries from July 2025 to July 2026, one word continues to rise in my spirit: FAITHFUL. God has been faithful.

What began as a vision and an assignment from God has continued to unfold before our eyes. This past July, we celebrated our first year of Kingdom impact with our Ministry Dedication and Ordination Service. As I looked around and saw the room filled with family, friends, clergy, ministry partners, and supporters, I was reminded that when God gives the vision, He also provides what is needed to fulfill it.

I truly believe God handpicked those who were in that room. To everyone who came, served, prayed, participated, gave, encouraged us, and celebrated with us: thank you. Your presence and support meant more than words can adequately express.

But our anniversary was not a finish line. It was a marker along the journey.

From the beginning, the vision God gave us for True Worshipers Kingdom Ministries has been clear: We are not called to build a church within four walls. We are the Church, and our assignment is to take the Church to the unchurched.

That is why you will find us in assisted living communities and nursing homes. You will find us downtown feeding and clothing those experiencing homelessness. You will find us praying together on Zoom in the mornings, studying the Word together, going from house to house, and wherever else God opens a door for us to serve.

The words of Isaiah continue to express the heart of this ministry:

“Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying: ‘Whom shall I send, and who will go for Us?’ Then I said, ‘Here am I! Send me.’”

— Isaiah 6:8 (NKJV)

Our answer remains: Here we are, Lord. Send us.

As we move into the next season, we are also strengthening the ministry's foundation. We are developing our leadership, establishing the administrative structure needed for growth, and expanding our Kingdom Partners and Kingdom Connections. And this is important to us: TWKM was never designed to do Kingdom work alone.

We are looking for partnership, not competition. We want to connect with churches, ministries, organizations, and Kingdom-minded individuals locally, nationally, and internationally. We want to come alongside others and be additional hands and feet to help them fulfill the assignment God has entrusted to them.

Our vision is to develop a network of Kingdom connections so that wherever God sends us, there will be trusted ministries and churches with whom we can connect those we encounter. Outreach should not end when the event ends. We want people to have somewhere to continue growing, receive support, be discipled, and become connected to the Body of Christ.

There is still much work ahead of us, but when I look at what God has accomplished in just one year, I am encouraged about what lies ahead.

We will continue to GO. We will continue to SERVE. We will continue to PARTNER. We will continue to WORSHIP.

And above all, we will continue to trust the One who called us, because He is faithful.

Thank you to every person who has prayed for us, served beside us, supported us financially, partnered with us, opened a door for us, or simply encouraged us along the way. You are part of this journey.

The vision is bigger than any one person, church, or ministry. It is Kingdom.

And as long as the Lord continues to say, "Whom shall I send?" our answer will remain:

"Here we are! Send us."

Kingdom News: Outreach in Action Highlights

True Worshippers Kingdom Ministries continues to answer the call to GO, taking ministry beyond the walls and into our communities. This quarter, Outreach in Action took us from parking lots and assisted living communities in Georgia to a crusade in North Carolina, while also giving us opportunities to partner with other Kingdom ministries serving their communities.

Prayer in the Parking Lot

In July, TWKM hosted our first Prayer in the Parking Lot in front of Island Quizine & Grill, and what a blessing it was! We came together with one purpose: to make prayer available to our community and remind people that wherever they are and whatever they may be facing, there is hope in Jesus Christ.

We extend a very special thank you to Marisol and Claude Fearon for graciously opening their doors and welcoming True Worshippers Kingdom Ministries to minister in front of their restaurant. Their willingness to let us use this space gave us an opportunity to bring prayer directly into the community and demonstrate what it means to take the Church beyond its walls.

Back-to-School Outreach — Decatur, Georgia

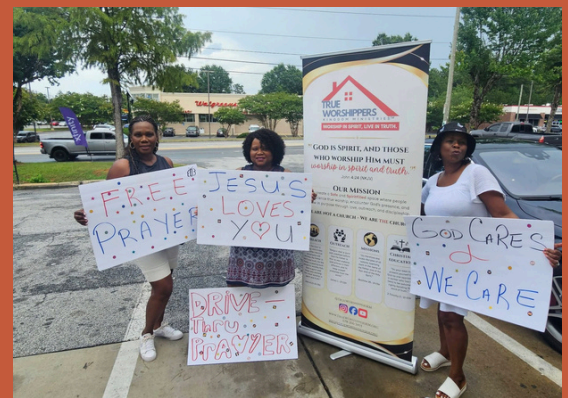

On that same day, TWKM put Kingdom partnership into action by joining New Life Kingdom Ministry in Decatur, Georgia, in support of their back-to-school outreach.

TWKM was blessed to contribute donations and come alongside another ministry serving children and families in the community. This is an important part of our outreach vision: we do not have to host an event for it to be Kingdom work. Sometimes our assignment is to join our hands with another ministry and help them fulfill what God has called them to do.

Crusade — Smithfield, North Carolina

Our outreach also extended beyond Georgia as TWKM partnered with New Beginnings Church of God 7th Day, in Smithfield, North Carolina, during their crusade.

Pastor Lea, Pastor Larry, and Minister Savannah traveled to North Carolina to attend and minister. We are grateful for opportunities like these to build Kingdom relationships beyond our local community as God continues expanding the reach of TWKM.

Kingdom Spotlight:

LA Michael aka Angel Michael

Choosing Love in the Midst of Grief

Sometimes God allows us to encounter someone whose testimony reminds us that where a person started does not determine where God can take them.

This quarter, our Kingdom Spotlight shines on a very special friend of True Worshipers Kingdom Ministries whom we affectionately call Angel Michael, also known as LA Michael.

Michael's story begins with tremendous loss. At only eight years old, his father passed away. He was too young to fully understand death, but he understood the pain it left behind.

"Since that day, I kind of always felt in pain, always by myself and always alone."

As Michael grew older, fear, loneliness, bullying, and the desire to belong began shaping his life. By junior high school, he was being exposed to gang activity around him. Initially, he wanted nothing to do with that life. He describes himself during those years as afraid of almost everyone and desperate simply to have friends.

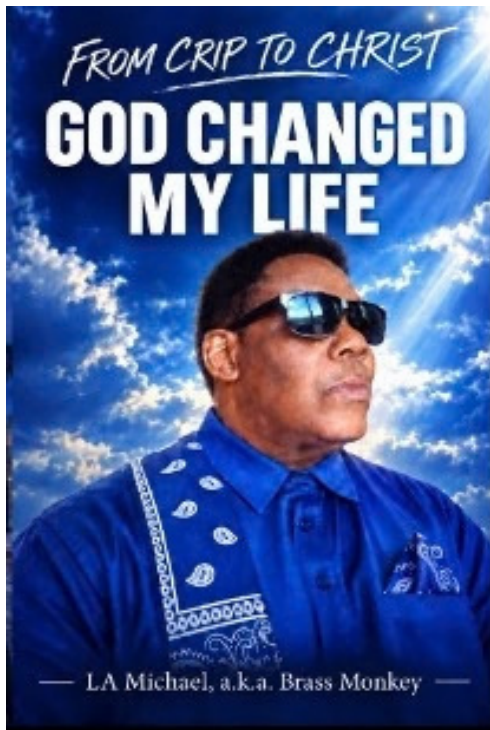

Eventually, however, fear turned into anger. After years of being bullied, Michael began physically defending himself. His growing strength caught the attention of members of the Crips. One encounter, when gang members intervened as others attempted to take a leather jacket his mother had given him, became a turning point. What initially felt like protection and belonging eventually drew him deeply into gang life.

By high school, Michael describes himself as a "full-time, hardcore Crip."

But there was someone praying.

Michael's mother was a strong Christian woman, and although his transformation did not happen overnight, God was working on him.

"It took years. It wasn't easy to give up the streets, but God was definitely working on me. He has brought me a long way, a very long way."

Today, Michael's life tells a very different story.

The hands that once fought are now extended to help. The voice that could have promoted violence is now being used through gospel rap and ministry to point people toward life and Christ.

As Michael puts it:

“Now instead of me trying to hurt people, I try to help people. I also make music, but my music is trying to make you want to save a life, not take a life.”

When Grief Became an Opportunity to Serve

Perhaps one of the clearest demonstrations of that transformation happened on Valentine's Day.

Michael had experienced devastating losses: the death of his brother, followed by the death of his son within a year. Valentine's Day marked the anniversary of his son's passing. Michael was still grieving deeply and struggling emotionally, but rather than allowing that painful day to completely consume him, he made a decision: He went downtown Atlanta to serve others.

While there, a man experiencing homelessness named Greg noticed Michael and called out to him by name. That encounter would become significant.

Michael came and found members of True Worshippers Kingdom Ministries, who were already downtown ministering through our Love in Action outreach. Through that connection, TWKM was able to step in and assist Greg, including temporarily placing him in a hotel and helping connect him with additional care.

As shared in our previous newsletter, Greg later spent approximately two months at Grady Hospital. Today, he is continuing his recovery at a rehabilitation facility in downtown Atlanta—the very facility where TWKM now ministers every third Saturday.

What began with one grieving man deciding to get up and serve became part of the chain of events God used to help another man in need. That is why we call him Angel Michael.

Michael's story is still being written. He ministers through gospel rap as LA Michael, sings, serves, emcee events, and uses his testimony to encourage others. He is also writing a book appropriately titled: From Crip to Christ: God Changed My Life.

His testimony is not that life has been without storms. It is that God has remained with him through them.

In Michael's own words: “I've been through a lot of storms, and I'm still standing. God truly is my everything.”

Michael's story reminds us that transformation does not mean we never experience pain again. Sometimes transformation is revealed in what we choose to do with our pain.

On a day when Michael had every reason to withdraw because of his own grief, he chose to show love.

And because he did, someone else was seen. Someone else was heard. Someone else received help. From pain to purpose. From hurting to helping. From Crip to Christ. That is transformation. That is Kingdom impact.
